

WHIPPER ONSTAGE AT GOOGLE FIRESTORE DEV SUMMIT TODAY

Former Viber/Rakuten, Riot Games and Expedia crew's "gamified" messaging platform featured onstage at Google's Firestore Dev Summit in Amsterdam today.

Limassol, Cyprus & Cupertino, CA — Oct 31, 2017

The immersive and character-driven messaging platform, Whipper, is onstage today as a named Google partner in Google's Cloud Firestore public beta launch. Whipper has leveraged Firebase for its mobile offering.

"Whipper is honored to be invited by Google to demonstrate how leveraging Firebase has been unimaginally helpful in our early and present development." Whipper has been leveraging Firebase/Firestore in some pretty innovative ways that caught Google's attention early. They have been a terrific sounding and advisory for us," remarked CTO Romans Bermans.

The Firebase Dev Summit by coincidence falls on the 31st of October" added Whipper's CPO, David McKinley. "As we empower a ubiquity of communities -gamers, streamers, film and television aficionados to leverage Whipper essentially as 'Virtual Cosplay,' one of our key slogans is 'Every day is Halloween at Whipper', so that has coincided nicely for the Summit."

Along with Whipper, Trivago, CNN, Shazam, and the +$3B valuated Home and Away travel site shall also be featured today onstage as Firestore adoptees.

Whipper develops an immersive and highly irreverent 'Play and Chat' messaging platform that empowers users to speak and interact with their friends as any character they want to be, real or imaginary. The technology involves proprietary Deep learning, speech, and audio processing elements.

Whipper is led by a founding team of Executives and Advisors who hail from Viber, Riot Games/Tencent, Netflix, NewsCorp, Swiftkey, Amazon, and Expedia.
